

ARRAYED LIKE A JUNGLE

Community Park To Be the Scene of a Free
Next Spectacular Demonstration Wednesday Night

Dan W. Hoegg, publicity director for the Maine War Finance Committee and Lieut. Francis L. Warner of Willimantic, Conn., were in the city yesterday, arranging for the presentation of "Here's Your Infantry," which will take place at Community Park next Wednesday night between 7 and 8 o'clock. It is a free public entertainment calculated to deepen local interest in the 7th War Bond sale, and to show what this branch of the Armed Forces is like.

There are 28 such units now spread throughout the country, exhibiting in 600 cities.

The unit which will come to Rockland will comprise 45 men. It will first demonstrate the kind and calibre of weapons used by the U. S. Infantry.

Community Park will be arrayed to resemble a jungle, such as has become familiar to many of our boys in the South Pacific. A realistic imitation will be given of an attack upon Jap pill boxes.

The show will be put on by the Army under the auspices of the War Finance Division of the U. S. Treasury Dept. solely as a promotion feature for the 7th War Loan. Nearly all of the Doughboys taking part in the demonstration have been decorated for heroism and all were especially trained for their roles in it at the Fort Benning, Ga., Infantry School.

CAMDEN IS OVER

Camden led Knox County and the State as the first of the larger towns to go over the top in the Seventh War Loan Drive, when Chairman Charles C. Wood announced the sales total of $315,000, which is $50,000 over the quota.

A Cub Scout Pack meeting will be held in the First Baptist vestry May 24 at 7:30. All parents of these 9 to 12 year old boys are requested to be present.

But Burst Safe Combination
In Break At Maine Central Station

The Maine Central Railroad passenger office in Rockland was broken into Wednesday night or Thursday morning, the thief or thieves gaining entrance to the building by jimmying a window in the men's toilet on the northern side.

When Leo G. Chase an early rising employee of the Railway Express Agency and the Maine Central Railroad Company, entered the station at about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, he found that the thief probably an amateur, had entered the ticket office by prying open the only door. The money drawers had been pried open, but the loot was small, as one contained nothing at all and the other one only $2 in pennies and odd change amounting to around 60 cents.

The principal damage was to the visible part of the iron safe combination, which was pretty much battered, but which resisted the man or men trying to get it open. It was necessary for the "first trick" man, Ernest B. Buswell, to use a stillson wrench to work the combination.

General Agent Frank L. Carsley reported that apparently no tickets in the two ticket cases had been disturbed, nor had any of the equipment in the office been removed.

The break is being investigated by the sheriff's department and the local police.

Mrs. Richard G. Ellingwood left Tuesday for Alabama, where she will spend several weeks with her husband, who is stationed there at Ft. McEllan.

Workers Afield

Seventh War Loan Solicitors
Are Making Good Progress

Knox County enters the Seventh War Loan Drive with full appreciation of the long fighting period that lies ahead, the high cost of the war effort, and the expense that faces the nation after hostilities for rehabilitation of service men and women and the restoration of the country to peace-time production.

The Government continues to need financial support and will continue to need it for some time to come. There must be no easing up in supplying that support. Upon the contrary, all should make a better response this time than ever before. As in prior war loans, all sources of income will be tapped but in the Seventh Loan more is being asked of individuals than previously.

With the realization that the men of the armed forces are sacrificing their lives that there may be a better world, a better United States of America, that liberty may persist, I am confident the people will lend to the Government the money so vitally needed—by means of the safest possible investment—that their response will be whole-hearted and in full measure.

The workers are in the field to raise $1,250,000 for Knox County and excellent progress has been reported to date. Mrs. Earle C. Perry, heading the women's division for the city, reports these captains for the workers in the several wards: 1, Mrs. Carl Griffith; 2, Mrs. Melvin Randall; 3, Mrs. Edwin Post; 4, Mrs. Donald Haskell; 5, Mrs. George Jackson; 6, Mrs. J. N. Southard and Ward 7, Mrs. Barbara Post.

Paul And Ann

Popular Entertainers At the Community Building Next Monday Night

Baby "Ronnie" which is the nickname for Verona is now five months old. She was born in Tacoma, Washington, Dec. 5, 1944, where her daddy was then serving with the armed forces. She came east with Paul and Ann last January traveling 5200 miles in 15 days for good measure, spent New Year's Eve in Mexico. She was then but a month old. Ronnie has the qualities of becoming a trooper like her parents. Although Ronnie won't be present when Paul and Ann bring their show to Rockland, little Shirley will be on hand to entertain in her own little way.

Shirley Roberts, Paul and Ann's other daughter is 5 years old and her songs and personality is winning countless fans throughout the State.

Another feature on the show is Pick Stuart, a versatile comedian who will make his first appearance in Rockland styled as a tramp who plays the part of trying for a job with the show. You will be amused by his original gags.

Mac Maguire, left-handed trick fiddler, will be there. You've heard him many times over the radio. A young fellow named Ricky who plays cleverly on his banjo will be with the show.

There will also be a local talent contest with three cash prizes to the winners. Paul and Ann always like to encourage the local folks in showing what talent they might posess. Paul Roberts, known as New England's No. 1 hillbilly song writer will feature many of his own songs including "The Major of St. Lo" and "New England is the only Place for Me."

Cove and extending to Ellsworth, Winter Harbor and Castine, were made at the final session of the 126th annual convention of the Maine Episcopal Diocese Wednesday in the Cathedral Church of St. Luke.

Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills, president of Bowdoin College, was appointed head of the Special Gifts Committee to receive funds toward the Maine Diocese's quota for the church's post-war reconstruction program.

Among the chairmen appointed for standing committees at the convention were Rev. William E. Berger, Camden, Bishop's address; and Rev. Ernest O. Kenyon, Rockland, unfinished business.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

A pigeon sought the shelter of a parked car on Main street the other night, and like a trapped lobster was unable to make its way out. Both the pigeon and the owner were sorry.

A Rockland woman, now deceased, had a pat saying for a late Spring snowstorm. It was: "Snow never melts in the sky."

The three-act comedy "Dulcy," with Adelyn Bushnell in the title role was presented at Park Theatre March 25 and 26, 1929, under the auspices of the Forty Club, which had for its president, John M. Richardson. Other members of the cast were Marshall Bradford, Dr. Linwood Rogers, Maynard Marston, Mrs. Vivian Hewett, Eleanor Reed, E. R. Veazie, L. B. Cook, H. W. Field, Jr., Charles Hewett and Dr. R. L. Stratton.

An unique publication comes to my desk in the form of a newspaper sent by Sid Cullen and known as the "Midpacifican," and is printed for the armed forces in the Pacific Ocean areas. The edition I received was dated May 5—1248 days since Pearl Harbor. As one might imagine the paper is devoted largely to war news, and is profusely illustrated—not forgetting the pin-up girls.

Here is one for the bird lovers: "Swarms of barn swallows have inhabited my barn for years. They use the same nests from year to year, but this year they have torn down all the old nests and are building new. Presumably the old ones have served their purpose. Can anyone tell me if this is a characteristic of these birds?"—B. G. W.

A Japonica bush on a Claremont street lawn attracted attention Wednesday, not only because it was in full bloom, but because it harbored at the same moment a bobolink and two humming birds. Concealed at the base of the handsome shrub were two house cats, watching for a careless movement on the part of the birds. The bobolink was a stranger in that neighborhood, but the humming birds come as regularly as the swallows do at Capistrano.

Dandelion blossoms are now seen at their best—or worst—according to the viewpoint of the man in the street, or the man who takes pride in his lawn.

Did you know that the old Dodge house on Dodges Mountain, no longer in existence could be seen from Matinicus? Noth with naked eye, to be sure, but the rays of the setting sun, reflected from its windows one day, attracted the attention of Edwin H. Crie, who happened to be visiting Matinicus relatives.

One year ago Mrs. Julia Murray was elected president of the Woman's Association of the Congregational Church.—The police ball netted $550—No deaths were reported.

Book Review

K. S. F.

“Black Boy.” Author, Richard Wright. Published by Harper and Brothers, New York.

One seldom finds a book more tragic, more pathetic and more shocking—yet holding a more absorbing interest to find out why the unpleasant story was written. This poor little, always hungry black boy, let us hope, is not truly typical. In the long hard battle for existence no wonder he, with ignorance and lack of normal instruction, did the outrageous things; and yet through it all there was within that human make-up, a spark of higher motives and longing for things of worth. A desire to know all about the whys and wherefores of life. I say in spite of all that had come into his life, to confuse and nullify ambition, he succeeded in breaking, for his own desires, into broad knowledge and becomes an intellectual success with his short stories, and then books, of which “Uncle Tom’s Children,” a movie and “Native Son,” are his work.

To understand much of Negro life read “Black Boy.”

Kathleen S. Fuller.

Some Storm Echoes

The humdrum of a snow and rain storm of last Friday caused more or less damage in Rockland and vicinity.

H. P. Blodgett, division manager of the Central Maine Power Company, said that this section did not suffer to any great extent, but that trees were blown down, disrupting service in some places. The cessation of power for some 90 minutes was due to transmission difficulties, the trouble being quite some distance from Rockland. Trouble was all cleared up by Sunday. In the Northern division, Mr. Blodgett said the company lost many poles.

Thomas C. Stone of the telephone company said that all toll lines to Belfast and Bangor were “out” for several hours, 10 or so poles being down along that route. Mr. Stone said that one of the toll lines up the river was restored late Friday.

Oscar W. Carroll, Rockville butcher, lost five out of 14 young cows in the blizzard Thursday night. They expired, huddled together, of exhaustion and cold.

THE COURIER-GAZETTE

Editor, FRANK A. WINSLOW
Associate Editor, MRS. WILLIAM O. FULLER

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1855 and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

[EDITORIAL]

Readers who may not at present be affiliated with the Knox County Community Concert Association are nevertheless watching its evolution with much interest, not to say curiosity. The movement had its nationwide beginning out in Chicago 24 years ago, and was so revolutionary that it immediately ran into trouble. Its aim was to do away entirely with local financial risk, continuous ticket-selling and the gamble of depending on the sale of single admissions at the box-office. It was proposed to accomplish this by organizing a permanent concert association in every city, called an “Association” and promoted on a non-profit membership basis through a one-week intensive campaign directed by a professional organizer, thus raising the money first and engaging the artists afterward within the limits of the budget made available. The sale of single admissions was entirely done away with—only members could attend the concerts.

Skepticism limited the organizations to only 12 cities the first year, and the end of the second year found 40 Middle-Western cities embracing the plan. In 1930, however, the necessary basis for a real expansion of the organized audience movement was finally established. The two leading artist management organizations, Columbia Concerts Inc. and National Artist Service, foreseeing the great possibilities for musical development inherent in the plan, assumed the responsibility for this expansion and put the weight of their artistic and financial support behind it. These organizations consisted of most of the leading artist managers, who, in turn, represented a majority of the established musical artists and attractions. Their first move was to secure the wholehearted cooperation of these artists. Artistic standards became of paramount importance. This was reflected in the thought and care given to the problem of furnishing only concerts of the highest quality to the organized audiences. In planning a concert series, the artist representative and the local committee for the first time found they had the same long-term objectives.

With these new resources behind it, the organized audience movement became a really great artistic and cultural development, which was definitely in the public interest and is now being enjoyed by more than 500 cities.

When the New England manager, Willard M. Sistare, invaded Maine he found a most fertile field in Knox County, with its traditional interest in music, and he was delighted beyond words at the enthusiasm which he witnessed at the organization meeting last Monday night. Assurance is already provided that when another Fall rolls around Rockland will become the scene of high class entertainment for music-lovers.

LOOKING AHEAD TO FORTY-EIGHT

From now until 1948 is admittedly a far cry, but this doesn’t prevent the nose of Dr. Gallup from prying into presidential possibilities. So he has set the American Institute of Public Opinion at work getting a line on the candidates three years hence. It was quite natural to assume that President Truman would be in the forefront of Democratic wishes and that Gov. Dewey would set the pace on the Republican side. And so the first tally proves, for Truman has 63 percent of the votes, former Vice President Wallace standing second with 20 percent. Dewey starts off with 59 percent of the Republican votes, and Stassen follows with 15 percent. There are lots of dark horses in both stables, and much may happen in the intervening months to completely change the picture. With Franklin D. Roosevelt no longer their stumbling block the Republicans manifestly have their best chance in years.

PHONE COMPANIES’ BIG TASK

The storm damage in Northern New England—principally in Maine, has required the efforts of a telephone repair force numbering more than 1400 men. In this State alone a counting of noses showed 2100 poles down. 450 toll circuits broken 12,500 phones out of order and 106 central offices isolated. In addition to the poles down and telephones out of order reported in the summary above, there are an unknown number in the many connecting companies in the storm area. Connecting company central offices isolated are, however, included in the summary figures. With 1400 hardy experts on the job much can be accomplished in a brief period, and at last accounts all but a few hundred of the telephones had been put back into service.

A GENERAL VISITS LONDON

Gen. Eisenhower took a day off Wednesday and rode up to “Lunnon” to see a show. His unannounced arrival, with Gen. Omar Bradley, was quickly learned and the street crowds hailed the heroes with tremendous enthusiasm. Gen. Eisenhower was quickly recognized by the audience when he entered the Prince of Wales Theatre dressed in his service uniform. At the end of the performance with the entire cast on the stage Sid Field, star of the show, led the audience in thunderous applause for the General who led the victorious Allied Army. Eisenhower arose in his box to thank his audience and the cast for “a most wonderful evening.”

UNION FAIR RETURNS

Union again swings into the game, and the announcement that it will be held Aug. 20-24 will be hailed with much satisfaction by all who have been compelled to forego that pleasure. President Herbert A. Hawes and his capable associates have not permitted the property to deteriorate during the “blackout,” and the public will find everything spic and span.

One of Hitler’s stenographers is quoted as saying that Adolf Hitler had a great hatred for President Roosevelt, and he “laughed hideously” at the news of his death. His laughter wouldn’t be a circumstance to that which would greet the positive assurance of Butch Hitler’s death.

Opponents of prohibition used to claim gleefully that the law was a farce, and that liquor was being sold freely despite it. And so, we might add, is black market gasoline and hundreds of other black market articles which are constantly being featured in the news articles.

WORKING FOR VICTORY

Word has been received by relatives in this city that Cpl. Kenneth T. Staples of Wethersfield, Conn., has been killed in action in Germany. He was a grandson of Mrs. Clara E. Staples, 34 Hill street. The father, Raymond Staples, will be well remembered in Rockland.

Among the prisoners released in Germany is Pfc. Maynard Linscott of Thomaston.

Among those discharged from the service is TS Roy Joyce, 27, of Atlantic, veteran of 51 months in the South Pacific with the 97th Field Artillery. He said he was going back to his peace-time occupation of lobster fisherman to “bring the price of lobster meat down.”

Pvt. Charles F. Richardson, 35, of 41 Winter street, Rockland, who served in the 17th Airborne Division, 193 Glider Infantry, European theatre, is a patient in the Convalescent Hospital at Camp Edwards, Mass. He wears a Good Conduct ribbon. Richardson attended Rockland schools, and was employed by Rodney E. Feyler & son. His wife resides at 22 Hyler street, Thomaston.

Camp Blanding, Fla.—Robert A. Graves, son of Mrs. A. F. Graves of South Thomaston, formerly a member of army ground forces, is receiving an honorable discharge from the service following examination and treatment at the Army Service Forces Hospital and processing through the Separation Classification Section, the Public Relations Office has announced.

He was formerly employed by Rodney Feyler, where he worked as a fish cutter.

The Separation Classification Section of the Regional Hospital here serves to aid the discharge in regaining his former position or to help him find another job. It serves to guide a soldier being discharged, to prepare him for civilian life and the problem which will confront him.

SSgt. William H. Allen, son of Mrs. Grace B. Allen, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations.

Rockland 13, Thomaston 5
Twelve hits, helped by 13 errors, gave Rockland an easy victory over last year’s Thomaston champions. The T. H. S. boys, after finishing the second with a two run lead, proceeded to present Rockland with three runs in the third and more in every inning except the seventh. Thomaston scored two in the second, one in the sixth, one in the seventh, and one in the eighth.

Both Kangas and McLellan pitched good ball but Rockland fielding left men on base in every inning while the T. H. S. boys faded in the pinches.

Spaulding, of Thomaston, with three hits in three times was leading hitter of the afternoon and Philbrook with three out of five was high for Rockland.

Seriously Wounded

Sgt. Carl Wren of Warren, Second Son of Chester Wren, To Be Hospitalized

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wren of Warren received word from the War Department recently that their son, Sgt. Carl W. Wren, 22, a tank commander in the Philippines, was seriously wounded April 23 in the head, and is now hospitalized. He went in with the Lingayen Gulf invasion of Luzon and his battalion is seeing active fighting now. Before going overseas about ten months ago, he received training at Camp Polk, La., and later his jungle training at New Guinea. This is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Wren to be wounded in action the past few months. Pfc. Charles M. Wren, 23, having recently returned to his outfit of combat engineers in the 7th Army after being hospitalized in France since Feb. 11. He visited Marselles and Paris before returning to his unit. Having entered the service Oct. 23, 1942, he received training at Camp Blanding, Fla. in Tennessee and in the southwest desert Training Camp at Camp Phillips, Texas. He entered Normandy on D-Day last June and has seen service until being wounded last February. Both boys, in letters, have commented favorably on the excellent medical care and good food in the Army hospitals in which they have been hospitalized.

Both were born in Sherman, in Aroostook County, and attended Hallowell schools and both graduated from Hallowell High School in 1940. Carl attended the Kennebec School of Commerce and was bookkeeper for Armour & Co. in Gardiner, and Woodville, N. H., before induction into the service. Charles was a welder at the Bath Iron Works before his induction.

Winslow.

Robert B. Lunt, superintendent of the Rockland-Rockport School Union No. 70, was re-elected for three years at a joint meeting held at Rockland Wednesday. Mr. Lunt came here from Island Falls in April, 1944.

The Gray Ladies

What Local Women Are Doing For Our Wounded Boys At Togos

Few Rockland people know what excellent work is being done for our wounded soldiers at Togos, by the organization, The Gray Ladies, who have been going to the Togos Hospital with home-made sweets, such as candy, and delicious cookies, for some weeks past, on certain days.

Could we all realize the joy and satisfaction this gives to those service boys, as they open up these presents of home concoction, they would be glad to help out the committee, or members of this mercy band, and donate to this cause.

Kindly ring 210 and the gift will be called for and taken, when the ladies go on Wednesday of each week.

The list of Gray Ladies thus far comprises Mrs. E. K. Leighton, Mrs. Arthur P. Lamb, Mrs. Horatio C. Cowan, Mrs. Lincoln E. McRae, Mrs. Kennedy Crane, Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. Irving Tuttle and Mrs. Earl Gowell.

Ernest B. Buswell, ticket agent at the Maine Central Railroad station, who has been on the afternoon and evening shift the past 13 years, is now on the morning shift. Guy B. Saunders, who has been on mornings since October of last year, is now a traffic control operator in Waterville. The afternoon and evening shift is now in charge of A. W. Brown, who came here from Pittsfield, when Mr. Buswell went on his recent vacation.

Rockland Garden Club meets Tuesday at 2:30 with Mrs. Allan J. Murray, Talbot avenue. The program will include Junior Nature Activities under the leadership of Miss Mary A. Browne. Members will exchange plants.

Miss Helen Tootill is employed as a teleprinter operator at the Western Union office, taking the place of Mrs. Maxine Gardner, who, with her daughter, Rhea, has joined her husband, Bertram A. Gardner in Concord, N. H.

Harold B. Durant of Warren will speak at the Rotary meeting today on the subject, "Famous People in the Musical World." Members attending club meetings away from home recently were: Alan L. Bird, Harold P. Blodgett and Allan F. Walker at Camden; Louis A. McKelvey at Belfast; and Sumner C. Perry at Damariscotta.

A meeting of the Rockland High School Alumni Association officers and executive committee will be held in the office of Mayor Edward R. Veazie Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock.

A Deserved Honor

Albert Lovejoy, Expressman, Receives Pin For Safe Driving

Albert Hewett Lovejoy of Thomaston, employe since July 20, 1920, of the Railway Express Agency, Rockland, was honored Thursday noon in a simple ceremony held at the office at the railroad station, when Henry G. Groves of Boston, superintendent of the North Shore-Maine Division of the company, presented him with a lapel pin in recognition of ten years of safe truck driving.

The pin of 10-carat gold, with the words, "Railway Express Agency," on red enamel, and with the words "Safe Driver" on white enamel, has an eagle at the top. The name, "A. H. Lovejoy" is engraved on the reverse side.

James A. Clancy of Waterville, route agent for the company; Ward E. Stone, local agent, and all the employes attached to the local office, were present. This pin, highly prized by Mr. Lovejoy and shown with pride to his many friends on his route, is one of three in the State of Maine, the others being held by employes in Sanford and Portland.

Two other employes of the Rockland office, provided they are 100-percent careful, will obtain similar pins a year from now, as Harold P. Ogier of Camden and Harold A. Robinson of Thomaston, have certificates denoting nine years of safe driving. Enoch M. Clark of Thomaston holds an eight-year certificate dated January, 1944, but he is no longer a driver, having been elevated to clerk.

Mr. Lovejoy, previous to World War I, served in the Army and Marine Corps, entering service in the Army when he was 18 years of age.

For the benefit of those unable to attend the service club's minstrel show in Park Theatre Monday night a second and public performance will be given in the Community Building Tuesday night. Tickets will be on sale at the Main street bond booth, after noon and they can be purchased at Strand Theatre and the Community Building Tuesday.

Baptist Men's League

Guest Speaker E. L. Brown Makes Hit On Ladies' Night—Harry Wilbur New President

The new president, Harry E. Wilbur

Edwin L. Brown, long time member of the Baptist Men's League, noted penman of the Rockland firm of Howard & Brown, designers and executors of diplomas for educational institutions, was speaker at the final meeting last night.

Genial Mr. Brown interjected many quips of humor in his talk on "Venice and Quaint Portugal," which was prefaced by an interesting recital of his experiences in penmanship, dating back to the days when he was growing up in the little community of Simonton's Corner, then a part of Camden.

"Penmanship has been my profession and painting of pictures is only a hobby," Mr. Brown, early known as the "boy penman of Simonton's Corner," said, in opening his extremely interesting address. Personalities mentioned were L. A. Barron of the Rockland Commercial College; Prof. A. R. Duntun, originator of the widely known Duntunian System of Penmanship, and his long time partner, Henry A. Howard.

Throughout the talk on Venice and Portugal, Mr. Brown displayed sketches, in color, made by him on his trips to Europe. Interesting indeed were his descriptions of the principal places sketched; his visit to the Brenner Pass and his one and only witnessing of a bull fight. Mr. Brown, introduced by President Raymond D. Bowden, was given an ovation at the close of his talk.

Probate Judge Harry E. Wilbur was elected president of the league the other officers being: Roger P. Conant and Edmund A. Wotton, vice presidents; Herman M. Hart, secretary; Osmond A. Palmer, treasurer and Sidney H. Pierce, auditor. Osmond A. Palmer, who reported for the nominating committee, escorted Judge Wilbur to the president's table, where he accepted the gavel from President Bowden and spoke briefly.

Secretary Hart reported that the average attendance at meetings the past season was 36, and Treasurer Palmer read a financial report showing the league as solvent with a balance of $37 on hand.

A letter from Rev. William J. Day of Winthrop, Mass., who founded the league in 1907, was read by Secretary Hart, and the league voted that Mr. Hart communicate with Mr. Day, extending the best of wishes to Mr. Day, who has, until very recently, been able to be the speaker at the May meeting.

"I follow your meetings through the columns of The Courier-Gazette, and my impression is that you have had some interesting and profitable addresses. I greatly rejoice, as will you, that the European war is at an end. I trust that it did not invade the League's ranks and remove any of its members. We wish the war with Japan was also a thing of the past."

Charter members present were given an ovation. They were: Charles H. Morey, Frank A. Maxcy, Osmond A. Palmer, Edwin H. Crie and Axel E. Brunberg.

A happy feature was the reading of "Fear God and Take Your Own Part," by Miss Constance Nichols of Hope, one of the Rockland High School Sophomore Speaking Contest participants.

Service Men's Club

Mrs. Emery Has Been Re-elected General Chairman—Room To Remain Open

At the annual meeting of the Executive Board of the Service Men's Club, the nominating committee composed of Mrs. David McCarty, Mrs. David Beach and Mrs. H. V. Tweedie presented the following list of officers and committee were elected:

Mrs. Charles A. Emery, general chairman; Mrs. H. V. Tweedie, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Emery, secretary; Miss Edna M. Payson, publicity chairman; Mrs. Jennie Feyler, room rental chairman; Mrs. E. Kenneth Mills, service room supplies; Mrs. Herbert A. Kirk and Mrs. E. Kenneth Mills, ways and means; Mrs. Merle Black, Miss Veta Lombardo and Miss Ruth Rogers in charge of boxes; Mrs. Stuart C. Burgess, chairman senior hostesses; Miss Betty Beach, chairman of junior hostesses; Mrs. Elizabeth Morey, charge of jar money collections.

Some may think because V-E Day has come and gone there is no longer use for the room. This is not so, for it is still needed and the Club has been asked to carry on a while longer. The efforts of officers, hostesses and all connected with the work are much appreciated and there should be no let down now as the war is only partly won.

Boxes are to be packed in the near future to be sent to some returned soldiers who are in charge of camps of German war prisoners. Their morale gets low on account of their being located in such lonely out of the way places.

If it is not possible to donate home cooked food there are still many other things as candy, nuts, jams and food that is not home cooked. All will be most appreciated.

Through the kindness of Dana Cummings posters have been made and placed in the rooms and at the base. Girl Scouts have made and presented scrapbooks. These gifts are much appreciated.

Paul Payson Tells How "Senior Freedom" Made the Trip To Providence

Paul M. Payson, Rockland High School Junior, member of the cast of the one-act play, "Senior Freedom" entertained Lions Wednesday with a recital of incidents in connection with the trip to and from the New England Drama Festival in Providence. His talk was packed with interesting informative and humorous references to all phases of the trip, and was couched in pleasing language which flowed freely to the very end of the talk. The young man was introduced by Henry A. Howard, who referred to the size of graduating classes now, and when he was a student.

President Bradford F. Burgess read a letter from Rev. Ernest O. Kenyon, absent from the city, urging Lions to hear Professor Pelletier talk on The San Francisco Conference at the Church Women's Study Group meeting tonight in the Universalist vestry.

Willard M. Sistrare of the Community Concert Association spoke briefly of the plans developing for bringing three concerts of outstanding artists to Knox County during the coming Fall and Winter.

President Burgess complimented Joshua N. Southard and Wilbur F. Senter of the Red Jacket Sea Scouts committee for getting results in re-arranging at the troop headquarters, the old Gen. Berry engine house. President Burgess said he had asked the Eastman Kodak Company to send the film, "Eighteenth Century Life in Williamsburg, Virginia," for use June 27, proposed date of installation of officers and ladies' night.

Lawrence Dandeneau, reporting for the 7th War Bond Minstrel Show, said that about 100 seas were still available, and Wilbur F. Senter reported briefly on the recently held court of honor and ball of the Sea Scouts.

Then came a song session, with Howard P. Crockett, directing, and

A pretty home wedding took place by candlelight Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zuinglius Gurney, when their daughter Avis Julia became the bride of Ethan Allen Partridge of Hope. Rev. Harold W. Nutter of Sears- mont performed the ceremony, using the double ring service. The bride was becomingly gowned in a two-piece rose-colored crepe dress in street length and wore a corsage of gardenias. The matron of honor, Mrs. Pauline Gurney, sister-in-law of the bride was attractively dressed in yellow crepe and her corsage was of pink roses. John Gurney, brother of the bride was best man. The groom and best man wore white carnations as boutonnieres. The room in which the marriage took place was tastefully decorated with cut flowers. After the ceremony the bride and groom cut the wedding cake which was made by the groom's sister, Mrs. Avis P. Nichols. Vinalhaven 'Folks Remember It

The Granite Hotel which flourished in the Island's heyday.

INTIMATE VIEWS OF VINALHAVEN
History, Home Life and Personal Recollections

By SIDNEY L. WINSLOW

The room on the second floor of Boman's Sail Loft, commonly referred to in other days as Boman's Hall, appears to have been Vinalhaven's first "opera house." Plays presented by professional actors formed a new departure of interest and amusement for the island folk and the efforts of the actors were enthusiastically appreciated. Seats of the bleacher or circus variety on both sides of the hall were used to accommodate the crowds that filled the room to overflowing every night for weeks in spite of the cramped quarters of actor and audience. However if one felt that the bleacher seat was beneath his dignity or not to his liking he or she was permitted to bring a favorite rocker or easy chair from home, a permit that was occasionally taken advantage of. Although the theatre may have been somewhat crude it was offset by the quality of actor who presented the plays there, for among them were artists who ranked high in theatrical circles of the large cities. The Lane's Island House (now known as Rockaway Inn) was at that time a popular summering place for these theatrical folk who, while here, would present a series of plays for the entertainment of the local populace and incidentally, raise a little pin money for themselves. George Wilson, Nellie Boyd, John Murray, Flora Myers and others are among the names best remembered by the citizens who were a part of the enthusiastic throng that so greatly enjoyed the plays in Boman's hall "way back in the early 70's." The plays ranged from the Shakespearean down to the popular plays of that era such as "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Rip Van Winkle," "East Lynne." Plays with a western setting were very much in favor. The scenery used was the handwork of John Murray the comedian. Boman's Hall had its heyday as a theatre during that era of Vinalhaven history which has ever been referred to as "Government Times" and which has been previously mentioned. Next to serve as Vinalhaven's theatre was the large hall connected with the Granite Hotel which stood on the V shaped tract of land between Water street and Atlantic avenue. Thierant theatrical troupes presenting the popular plays of the day, minstrels, and other musical productions were frequent events in Granite Hall, our opera house of the early and middle 80's. The hall was also a favorite spot for such sporting events as indoor foot races, walking matches, velocipede races etc., and among the winners of the most strenuous of these sports would be found men who toiled through a 10 or 11 hour day in the granite quarries. And in Granite Hall, as had happened in Boman's Hall, the actor guests of the Lane's Island House occasionally presented a play, and listed in this category we find such outstanding names as Otis Skinner, Cora Tanner, Col. William Sinn, Rachel Noah, Rosa France, Quincy Kilby, May Merrick, George Murray, H. Price Webber, William E. Sands, and others. Then, too, it is well remembered that the famous orator and free thinker Robert G. Ingersoll once delivered a speech from the steps of the Granite Hotel, a speech whose text, long since forgotten, is overshadowed by one poignant thrust which was aimed at his political foes, the Democrats, when he said, "They'll steal everything they can get their hands on and, Great God, what hands!" Then there were the home talent productions of Dion Boucicault's famous melodrama "The Octoroon" and another old and popular favorite J. T. Crowbridge's "Neighbor Jackwood." These two plays, presented under the direction of Herbert Lovejoy, are among the best remembered events of the Granite Hall's theatrical career. It is reported that our best beloved citizen, the late Owen P. Lyons, played the "heavy" part in one of the home talent productions and that he played the part very well, but what a stretch of imagination it must have taken to think of the kind hearted "O.P." as a villain. Well when we consider the high regard and esteem in which everybody held Mr. Lyons it would have been a dangerous thing for anyone to have hissed the villain in that show. Granite Hall and Hotel were destroyed by fire on the night of March 30, 1888, which once more brings us back to the subject of fire engines. As has been previously stated, the departure of the hand tub "E. P. Walker" left Vinalhaven with no fire fighting equipment excepting the old "Elsworth" which not only was sadly out of date and yet more sadly in need of a thorough overhauling and extensive repairs. Luckily there were no serious fires for nearly 10 years after the Walker's departure; it was just ten years lacking one month after the Walker's departure that Granite Hotel was burned. At this time the "Elsworth" was put into service but failed to respond; bucket brigades were formed but to no avail as the fire had too much headway, so the townsfolk

Praise For Piston

It is always gratifying to the Rockland friends of music, to learn of those who advance to high regard in the minds of the intelligent musical world, as has been the case with Walter Piston, whom we claim as Rockland born.

His music has caused much favorable comment. Again, his more than interesting Second Symphony—romantic in lyricism, and in excellent architecture of thought movement is satisfying. He has put much of the buoyancy and sentiment so longed for and so seldom heard in these days, and seldom encountered in modern composition. The "second symphony" was heard at the Festival of Music at Columbia College in New York, Dr. Howard conducting. It was the annual Festival of American Music and sponsored by the Alice Ditson Fund.

Our congratulations go to Walter Piston and our pride is high in his prowess and thoughtful, sincere compositions. Kathleen S. Fuller

The Isle of Capri

Sgt. Beverage of North Haven Writes About This Lovers' Paradise

Somewhere in Italy, April 23
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Here I am again to tell you more about "The Isle of Capri" which I had the good fortune to visit recently. Some time ago you no doubt read my brief description of the Isle as seen from a distance but this time you will be told about the place from a first hand knowledge of this "Island Paradise".

One should not plan to visit the Isle without the company of the fairer sex for it is truly a lover's paradise complete! Owing to the present situation, my visit there left much to be desired, however I can tell all about the place and hope that we can in some way form a picture in your minds of the features of this place.

To start with I just want to say that in our own rugged coastline of Maine we have places geographically much more attractive than Capri but not with so much mythology and history attached to them. All such things concerning Capri have been exploited and this combined with the natural beauty has done much to make it a "must see" on the list of the world traveler as well as the vacation home of many prominent people.

For those of you interested in the Topography of Capri here are the facts: Length, 3 1/2 miles; breadth, maximum 1 1/2 miles, minimum 3/4 mile. Circuit 12 miles; area, 2450 acres. Height, maximum 1932 feet; average 675 feet. Distances from well known places, nautical miles: Sorrento, 7.7; Naples, 17; Salerno, 25.

Now for the geological aspects: The main body of the island is formed of stratified limestone (a familiar word!) with sandstone in a few places. The earth filler is yellow and dark red clay and beds of volcanic materials. Since Capri itself is non-volcanic in origin these materials have been brought by the wind during the eruption of nearby volcanoes. In pre-historic times it is believed that the island was originally under water and was built up by the deposits of sediment and was brought above the surface by the lowering of the bottom of the sea.

There are many varieties of wild and cultivated flowers to be found on Capri, and many kinds of trees and shrubs both wild and cultivated. The whole island is covered by a maze of criss-crossing vine covered hedged-in footpaths! Lovers lanes de-luxe!

"The Isle of Capri" has two main settlements, the towns of Capri and Anacapri. Capri is the main resort town and here it is that most of the important villas are located. Anacapri is on the high west-central part of the island and is much similar to any other small Italian town in that it is dirty and unkempt, whereas Capri is relatively clean and well kept up.

This is easy to understand for the main business of Capri is catering to the sightseer and well-to-do residents whose splendid villas overlook the harbor of Grande Marina to the north and the small, but more impressive Piccola Marina to the south. The balconies and sun parlors of course generally favor the view to the south as during the winter months the rays of the sun are largely depended on for heat during the day! I was in one such elaborate villa as a guest of the American Red Cross Club and in the guest book I espied the name of Doug Gilchrist of Vinalhaven!

This particular villa was especially impressive by virtue of its very elaborate tile floor and sun balcony not to mention the extremely large plate glass windows, and doors made entirely of glass. It was the sort of house which you've heard about that people who live in such shouldn't throw rocks.

This was only one among hundreds of elaborate villas of Capri. Nationalities of residents are far from native for included are a number of British and Americans among whom were Gracie Fields, Mr. Tarkington, D. H. Lawrence, Mrs. Harrison Williams (Williams Shave Cream family) and many others.

Our first day at the island was spent by a boat trip around in a power launch. We started out at the Grande Marina (great harbor) and cruised along the northern shore toward the western end, just before we reach the point of Punta Arcera we come to the entrance of the Blue Grotto. The hope of visiting this grotto was one of the main reasons your reporter wanted to

SERMONETTE

EUROPE IS CONQUERED

May 14—From Europe tonight comes word that the fighting in the west has ceased, the last guns have been fired, and whole divisions of the Army are returning to fight no more.

That is a cause of great rejoicing to the mothers of these veterans and the men themselves who are war weary. But war in the East has not ended, and millions will be shipped across the Atlantic to the Pacific and the far East. We cannot until Japan is beaten to her knees. They are on their way. Over half a million men must remain in Europe to guard the zone assigned to the United States. Germany has to be policed and governed.

It is not hard to determine what the first objective is in the Pacific. Japan must feel the might of the United States and Britain as has Germany. But a much more difficult problem faces the United Nations in the west in the problems of recovery in Europe. First these guilty fiends must be punished, fully dealt with; to do less is to insult the dead and the living; second, proper governments must be established to administer and restore civil rights.

In the Epistle to the Hebrews, Paul points out the need for stern discipline "My son, neglect not the discipline of the Lord. For whom the Lord loves, he chastises; continue under discipline. Now all discipline seems to be, for the present, not a matter for joy, but grief, but afterwards it yields the most peaceful fruit of justice to those who have been exercised by it."

The exercise of the United Nations discipline, while stern, as the case demands, means restoration of civil law under justice, presently grievous, but afterward the most peaceful fruit of decent living.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on May 20. The Golden Text is: "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." (Romans 8:5). The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "He that is of God heareth God's words; ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God" (John 8:47).

In the First Baptist Church at 10:15 the men and women will meet for their prayer groups. In the 10:30 service the choir will sing, and Mr. MacDonald will have as his subject "The True Unity of the Church." At the noon hour all classes of the church school will meet. The Christian Endeavor meeting at 6 will feature a debate with Ronald Carver, Ansel Young, Virginia Egan and Margaret Dow taking part. The evening service will open at 7:15 with a hymn singing, after which Mr. MacDonald will continue his discussion of the second coming of Christ answering the question "What Happens After His Return?"

At the Congregational Church Sunday morning church school is at 10 a. m., followed by preaching service, 10:45 when Rev. Frank I. Hanscom will occupy the pulpit. "Comrades of the Way" will meet at 6:30 p. m. Men's meeting will be held Friday night in the church vestry.

At the Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church Rev. C. Wendell Wilson will speak at 10:30 on the theme visit the Isle for for. (our earliest knowledge of its existence goes back to High School days when we read a number of travel books written by "Dick" Halliburton who visited the grotto and swam in its waters.)

The entrance to the Grotto is only a few feet in width and height, barely large enough to admit an ordinary size rowboat and then only when its occupants are lying in the bottom. It cannot be entered at all if the seas are rough unless one catches a lucky in-going wave! Once inside however the grotto opens into a vast cavern whose floor is many feet below water level.

The name "Blue" is well chosen for everything is a very brilliant, beautiful blue color due to the refraction of the sun's rays under the water's surface. The boatman has a glass bottomed can which he allows us to look through and we can see way down under the ledges around the cavern's edges and it's still blue. We could see small fish and coral formations. Our boatman gives us a piece of coral from the bottom of the grotto. He wants a cigarette in return. Cigarettes will buy anything and everything over here! We lay in the bottom again and away we go out of the grotto! The water just outside the entrance is alive with boats all lined up in preparation for entering and others returning their passengers to the larger power launches or perhaps offshore to fish for a while.

(To be concluded.)

For Heroic Action

Sgt. Woodrow Anderson Is Awarded a Bronze Star Medal

With the Fourth Armored Division—Sergeant Woodrow R. Anderson, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis

E. O. Kenyon, rector, services for Pentecost Sunday will be: At St. John's, Thomaston—Holy Communion at 8 a. m.; at St. Peter's—Parish Mass and sermon at 9:30. Church School at 10:45; at St. George's, Long Cove—Vespers and sermon at 4 p. m.

H. Anderson, 9 Warren street, Rockland, has been cited for heroic action in combat. A reconnaissance sergeant with the 24th Armored Engineer Battalion, he has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by order of Brigadier General William M. Hoge, commanding the Fourth Armored Division. The citation reads in part:

"The Bronze Star Medal is awarded to Sergeant Woodrow R. Anderson, 31061716, Company 'C', 24th Armored Engineer Battalion, U. S. Army, for heroic action against the enemy on February 9, 1945, in the vicinity of Bardorf, Luxembourg. With complete disregard for personal safety, Sergeant Anderson crossed the Sauer River alone in an assault boat and succeeded in placing smoke pots at designated localities along the bank of the river. The courage and extreme devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Anderson reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Inducted Feb. 5, 1942, Sgt. Anderson has been overseas more than a year with the Fourth Armored Division. He participated in the crack tank division's race across France after the Normandy breakthrough, the relief of the besieged airborne troops at Bastogne, Belgium, and the Fourth Armored's spectacular drive through central Germany.
